

1520-1566

Suleiman the Magnificent, son of Selim I, was one of the most powerful monarchs of all time.

His reign saw Ottoman rule reach from Hungary to Aden and from Algiers to the Crimea.

Suleiman's major military exploits took place in Europe. Suleiman's army overran Hungary & twice besieged Vienna although both times without success.

The King of France, Francis I, was his ally;
the Holy Roman Emperor, Charles V,
his enemy.

(1466-1520) MONTEZU' MA II

Emperor of Mexico. Was successful in extending his dominions southward, but when the Spaniards landed under Cortez he refused to attack them until too late to oppose their advance upon the city of MEXICO. The Mexicans called upon CUITLAHUATZIN to lead them against the invaders and Montezuma was probably murdered by the Spaniards, though it was said he was killed by a stone thrown by one of his own men.

1486-1543 Johann Maier von ECK

A German theologian; a violent antagonist of Luther and Luther's doctrines; went to Rome and procured a papal bull against both (1520). Undertook at the Augsburg Diet to convert Luther's doctrine from the Fathers, but not from the Scriptures. Was present at the conferences of Worms and

Regensburg. wrote the "OBELISCI" to confute Luther's theses. He wrote a German translation of the Old Testament and revised Luther's translation of the New.
